

WILLARD MACK PLAYS AT GRAND

Will Open With Blanche Douglas and Stock Company Sunday Evening.

HIS COURSE IS COMMENDED

ASSOCIATES ENDORSE HIM AND CRITICIZE HEFFRON.

Willard Mack, with Blanche Douglas as leading woman, will open at the Grand theatre next Sunday evening in Gus Thomas' play, "In Mizoura." The company will be partially recruited from the organization which recently closed an engagement at the Colonial.

A delegation from the Willard Mack Stock company called at The Herald office yesterday to protest against statements purported to have been made by T. N. Heffron. Mr. Heffron's action in withdrawing from the organization in the midst of the performance Tuesday evening was branded as unprofessional and subsequent statements attributed to him were declared to be humiliating to the other members of the company. The delegation heard from yesterday is heart and soul for Willard Mack in the emergency which has disrupted the organization. The following statement was dictated by Lee C. Miller:

"Speaking for the entire Willard Mack company, I think that Mr. Heffron's attitude toward the company is very unjust. He seems to think that we are all paupers. Mr. Heffron made a statement some days ago, stating that Mr. Mack owed him $300. We cannot understand that, as Mr. Mack does not owe anything to any member of this company. Nevertheless, we have money coming to us, not from Mr. Mack, but from Mr. Heffron. Mr. Heffron has been given a stimulant under advice of a physician. We do not think that it was Mr. Mack's performance or his condition that closed the engagement. We feel that Mr. Heffron was at fault in leaving the stage in the middle of the second act. If Mr. Mack intends to open any engagement in this city, our sympathies are all with him and we will be willing to work toward the success of his project. We don't feel that any criticism is to be offered against Mr. Mack, as we have received in full every dollar due from him. Yesterday Mr. Mack made a settlement with the members of the company for services since the date when he had assumed the management."

Miss Anna Cleveland offered the following spirited comment:

"With reference to Mr. Heffron's generous offer to contribute to the ladies of the company $300 which he appears to think he has coming from somebody, I feel safe in saying on behalf of the women of the company that they are not applicants for charity from Mr. Heffron or anybody else."

Mr. Heffron left the city, but friends of his have made the statement in his behalf that he walked off the stage in the midst of the performance of "Captain Swift" because he did not care to continue the act to the audience, which he said was resulting from the acting of Mr. Mack. It is also said that the company was turned over to Mr. Heffron and Mr. Dunworth when Mr. Mack was taken to the hospital in order that the reputation of the company might not be attached for indebitness incurred under the Mack management, and it was not their understanding that they would become responsible for any liabilities.

LET THEM WAIT SAYS CLINTON

County Commissioner in No Hurry to Hear Complaints of the Unfortunate.

MACKAY IS OUT OF TOWN

LEGALITY OF PROCEEDINGS MAY BE QUESTIONED.

For several hours yesterday afternoon widows and orphans, the lame, halt and blind, stood in line awaiting the pleasure of the lord high county commissioner, who were due to hold their last sitting as a board of equalization on tax assessments. It was the last day for hearing complaints, but the waiting was but a repetition of previous days. Finally Commissioner Walter J. Burton, who has been the only member of the board who has paid any attention to this important duty prescribed by law by the commissioners, finally put in an appearance. Commissioner James E. Clinton was telephoned to and told that there was a crowd in waiting. His answer was "Let them wait." So the widows and cripples stood in line and waited. Commissioner Clinton did not put in an appearance at all and the business was done without him, whether legally or otherwise. Commissioner John C. Mackay is in Wyoming attending to the shearing of his sheep.

This was but a repetition of former sittings of the board of equalization. At almost every sitting but one commissioner, and that Mr. Burton, has been present. Mr. Burton was unavoidably detained one day and Commissioner Clinton sat alone and heard the appeals with the county auditor and county assessor. One day only John C. Mackay was present. Mr. Clinton was present three days.

Legality in Question. The question has now arisen as to how much of the work of the board of equalization this year is a legal and how much of it will how water. The assessor is puzzled and so are other county officials.

Section 2574 of the Compiled Laws of Utah says that the board of county commissioners is the county board of equalization, and provides that the county assessor and county auditor shall be present. The board of county commissioners means at least two members of the board. Instead of this, one member has been doing all the business at a majority of the ten sessions held. In nearly every case this one member has been Walter J. Burton, who is the only commissioner to pay much attention to the duties the law prescribes in this important matter.

There have been few complaints of any size regarding the assessments this year, but there have been many of them from poor people. To these Mr. Burton, the auditor, Frank Higinbotham, and the assessor, Amos Gabbott, have given close and careful attention. They have received many of the amounts assessed against these poor people and a hardship will be worked on these if the just abatements have been made illegally.

Attentive to Big Interests. Last year when there were many complaints from corporations, and men of influence and wealth appeared before the board, Commissioners Clinton and Mackay scarcely missed a meeting and were particularly careful to make a show of close attention to the complaints. That was when the mines and products of mines were handled by the county assessor and the big interests were necessarily affected.

The county commissioners have never given much attention to the statutes provided for their guidance, and a warrant which got them into serious trouble when they paid out $5,725.50 of the people's money to the party organ.

Among those who secured rebates yesterday was former Senator Thomas Kearns, whose stately residence on Brigham street had been placed at $75,000. This was the figure at which it was assessed at first last year, and a reduction was made to $60,000. By some error the old figure was again used. The abatement was made to $60,000 again. David Keith was treated in the same way, notwithstanding of his Main-street property having been at the old figure, without taking into consideration the reduction made by the board last year. This, too, was rectified.

Gets Chilly Reception. One woman who received a chilly reception by the board, or such of it as was present, was Mrs. Sarah N. Phillips of 464 East Fifth South street, whose assessment was reduced materially last year and also was the sister. An attempt was made to prove ill health and to back it up a letter was produced from one S. B. Finney, "The Great Botanical Age," at Delta, O., who guaranteed to cure any and all diseases by mail. Inquiry showed that these people had been sending to Finney more than enough money to pay the difference in taxes several times over. The request for abatement was refused.

This year, for the first time, the Fifth East hotel was placed on the rolls and assessed at $15,000 for C. B. Titcomb's equity in the property, which still stands in the name of the United States government. The assessor has been advised that this tax can be legally collected.

GREETING FROM NORWAY.

Past Commander of G. A. R. Writes to Colonel Sterrett.

The following letter was received from Fretheim, Norway, by Colonel Frank M. Sterrett, past commander-in-chief of Missouri: "Please accept kind greetings from this beautiful spot in the mountains and bays of Norway, where I am writing you at 10:32 o'clock in the evening, by the light of the day, and where the snow-covered peaks are visible from my table. Wish you the fullest success in your work for your salt and water as for the sake of the governor and people of Utah, and particularly of Salt Lake citizens, who are doing so much to honor the G. A. R."

WILL ENTERTAIN UTAH'S OLD FOLKS

Preparations Complete for Celebration and Concert on Temple Square.

AUTO CARS ARE LACKING

RESPONSES NOT SO NUMEROUS AS EXPECTED.

Today is Old Folks' day, and it is expected that at least 4,000 will take advantage of the entertainment being prepared for them here in the form of a sightseeing trip about the city, an elaborate luncheon on the lawn of the temple square and a beautiful musical program in the tabernacle. Even this possible is being done for the pleasure and amusement of the old folks, and the things which please them most will be the special features of the day.

With one exception the plans of the central committee having the entertainment in charge have worked out to its complete satisfaction. This exception is that the people owning automobiles have not been as liberal as was expected by the committee, and up to last night only 143 of the old folks for the parade about the city. It was hoped that at least 400 automobiles would respond to the call of the central committee with their machines, but for some reason the expected number did not reply to the requests sent out by E. F. Grant, who has had this portion of the entertainment in charge.

Mr. Grant urges the people owning machines to turn out this morning and to have their automobiles at either of the railroad depots at 10 o'clock. The machines already placed at the disposal of the committee will seat only about 600 people, and fully 2,000 will take up the city over the various roads. The Salt Lake old folks will not be in the parade, as the committee is having a hard time in securing means of transportation for the old folks from out of the city.

Route of Parade.

The visitors from out of town will leave the depots promptly at 10 o'clock, and the route of the parade will join the railroad depot at 10 o'clock. The route, coming uptown via Second South and West Temple streets, will then turn north on Temple street and move to State, thence south to Fifth South, thence west to Main, thence north on Main street, thence east to Sixth East, counterclockwise to the temple square, where luncheon will be served.

The bands will not march in the parade, but will be stationed at various places along the route of march. The Fifteenth United States Infantry band will be stationed at the O. S. L. depot, and the G. A. R. band at the D. & R. G. depot. The band will take a position near the Brigham Young monument. During the march the Fifteenth Infantry band will play a concert from a stand located near the center of the square.

Space Is Allotted.

The old folks of Salt Lake will not be admitted to the temple square until 12 o'clock, and to avoid their having to wait outside the gates in the hot sun too long the committee asks that they do not come to the gate until near that time. The tables will be arranged on the lawn, each stake in the city having an allotted space as follows: Pioneer stake, on the west, north of the tabernacle; Salt Lake stake, on the east, north of the grounds; Ensign stake, on the north-eastern portion of the grounds, and Granite stake, in the southeast corner of the square. The grounds will be beautifully decorated with bunting.

No Organ Recital Today.

The program at the tabernacle following the luncheon will contain many numbers from the folks. J. J. McMillan's Symphony orchestra will play "The Largo," and Sid Chaikler will amuse the old folks with imitations of various animals. The old folks' choir will render several selections, and there will be short addresses made by prominent men of the city.

Announcement was made in the tabernacle yesterday that there will be no organ recital today, inasmuch as the temple grounds will be turned over to the old folks for their exclusive use. The grounds will not be opened to visitors until 3:30 p. m.

THREE SMALL FIRES.

Dry Grass and Overheated Range Cause Small Blazes.

The fire department was called out to extinguish two grass fires yesterday. The first fire was at 323 F. street, and was caused by a man burning dry grass in the vicinity. The second fire was on I street, and was caused by a man burning dry grass in the vicinity. The fire was caused by a match being thrown carelessly in the dry grass and weeds by Harry Little, an old man. This blaze was extinguished by the fire department. The old folks' choir will render several selections, and there will be short addresses made by prominent men of the city.

An overheated range in a one-story frame building owned by J. W. Harrison on Rapahou street, also caused another small fire shortly before noon yesterday. Chief Clore, No. 2 hose company and No. 1 steamer responded to the alarm, and the flames were put out with little difficulty. The damage to the house and contents will not reach over $50.

A private safe may be rented in the fire and burglar proof vault of the Salt Lake Security & Trust Co., 32 up Main street, $2.00 per year and upwards.

MASTERS REFUSE TO GRANT DEMAND

As Result of Stand Taken by U. S. Mining Company Asks Employers Journeymen Plumbers Strike.

Of the forty plumbing establishments in this city that are members of the Master Plumbers' association, all except two kept their word and refused to grant the demand for an increase in pay asked by the journeymen plumbers, to take effect yesterday. About 125 plumbers went on strike yesterday morning, and plumbing work in the city will be tied up for a few days at least.

The journeymen plumbers were receiving $3.50 for a day of eight hours' work, and made a demand June 23 for an increase of 80 cents a day. The master plumbers say they are unable to grant this increase, and will fight the demand. The journeymen plumbers will be ready to go back to work by that time.

No conflict of the official line between the master plumbers and the union committee yet, but it is expected that a conflict will develop if the union will call on the master plumbers today. The only terms which the master plumbers say they will accept is that the men return to work at the old scale.

NO CROWDING NECESSARY New Lease for Station A Stipulates New Front With Two Doors—Other Terms Made.

By the terms in a new lease drawn up and entered into yesterday by the United States postal department and Charles Crane, owner of the building now occupied by station A of the Salt Lake post office, residents of the east end will no longer be compelled to fight their way in the building to get to their offices, as has been the custom heretofore.

The sub-station of the postoffice at present is an extremely narrow one. By the terms of the new lease the owner agrees to put in a new front and arrange an entrance at each end, making it possible to go in one door and out the other.

The new lease also requires the owner to furnish light and heat for the building, thus the only expense the government is under in maintaining this office being the monthly rental and salaries of employees. The yearly rental under the new lease will be $1,000, and the life of the lease is for ten years, beginning Aug. 1, 1909.
